- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct

In 1858, the British Parliament passed the Government of India Act, transferring British power over India from the East India Company.

Statement 1 is incorrect. The local government were not completely excluded from exercising governance under East India Company rule. For example: The Charter Act of 1813 authorised the Local Governments in India to impose taxes on persons. They could also punish the persons for not paying taxes.

Lord Ripon brought the Resolution of 1882, which gave Indians the right to local self-government. The scheme of local self-government would develop the municipal institutions which had been under the direct control of the British Crown.

Statement 2 is incorrect. The Charter Act of 1853 introduced an open competition system of selection and recruitment of civil servants. The covenanted civil service was, thus, thrown open to the Indians also. For this purpose, the Macaulay Committee (the Committee on the Indian Civil Service) was appointed in 1854. Thus, Indians were brought into administration under East India Company rule itself.

After 1886 the Civil service came to be called the Imperial Civil Service.

In 1886, the Aitchison Commission recommended that Indians also get employed in public service.

Government of India Act of 1919 was enacted on the basis of declaration of 1917 by the British Government. This declaration stated, for the first time, that the objective of British government was the gradual introduction of responsible Government in India.

SFG 2022 | LEVEL 2 | Test 1 – Solutions |  ForumIAS

Statement 1 is correct. Government of India Act, 1919 relaxed the central control over the provinces by demarcating and separating the central and provincial subjects. It introduced the dual system of governance known as dyarchy for the provinces of British India. It further divided the provincial subjects into two parts—transferred and reserved. The transferred subjects were to be administered by the Governor with the aid of Ministers responsible to the legislative council. The reserved subjects, on the other hand, were to be administered by the Governor and his executive council without being responsible to the legislative council.

Statement 2 is correct. The Government of India Act of 1919 introduced, for the first time, bicameralism and direct elections in the country. Thus, the Indian legislative council was replaced by a bicameral legislature consisting of an Upper House (Council of State) and a Lower House (Legislative Assembly). The majority of members of both the Houses were chosen by direct election.

Statement 3 is incorrect. Indian Councils Act of 1909 (and not Government of India Act, 1919) introduced a system of communal representation for Muslims by accepting the concept of 'separate electorate'. Under this, the Muslim members were to be elected only by Muslim voters. Thus, the Act 'legalised communalism' and Lord Minto came to be known as the Father of Communal Electorate. The Government of India Act of 1919 extended this principle of communal representation by providing separate electorates for Sikhs, Indian Christians, Anglo-Indians and Europeans.

Statement 4 is incorrect. Indian Councils Act of 1909 (and not Government of India Act, 1919) provided (for the first time) for the association of Indians with the executive councils of the Viceroy and Governors. Satyendra Prasad Sinha became the first Indian to join the Viceroy's executive council. He was appointed as the Law Member. The Government of India Act, 1919 required that the three of the six members of the Viceroy's executive Council (other than the Commander-in-Chief) were to be Indian.

Statement 5 is correct. The Government of India Act, 1919 granted franchise to a limited number of people on the basis of property, tax or education. Though they were not granted voting rights, nor the right to stand in elections, the Government of India Act 1919 allowed Provincial Councils to determine if women could vote, provided they met stringent property, income, or educational levels. Between 1919 and 1929, all of the British Provinces, as well as most of the Princely states granted women the right to vote and, in some cases, allowed them to stand in local elections. Thus, it provided for limited voting rights to women.

Knowledge Base:

Other features of Government of India Act, 1919:

- 1) It created a new office of the High Commissioner for India in London.
- 2) It provided for the establishment of a public service commission. Hence, a Central Public Service Commission was set up in 1926 for recruiting civil servants.
- 3) It separated, for the first time, provincial budgets from the Central budget and authorised the provincial legislatures to enact their budgets.
- 4) It provided for the appointment of a statutory commission to inquire into and report on its working after ten years of its coming into force.

Q.11) Consider the following statements regarding 'Basic Structure Doctrine':

2. Singapore is the only country other than India to acknowledge Basic Structure Doctrine.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

The basic structure doctrine is a common law legal doctrine that the constitution of a sovereign state has certain characteristics that cannot be erased by its legislature. It was developed by the Supreme Court of India in a series of constitutional law cases in the 1960s and 1970s that culminated in Kesavananda Bharati v. State of Kerala, where the doctrine was formally adopted.

Statement 1 is incorrect.

The basic features of the Constitution have not been explicitly defined by the Judiciary nor by legislature. The doctrine is not expressed and written in constitutional manner in India. The claim of any particular feature of the Constitution to be a "basic" feature is determined by the Court in each case that comes before it.

Bangladesh is perhaps the only legal system in the world which recognizes this doctrine with an expressed, written and rigid constitutional manner through article 7B of its Constitution.

Statement 2 is incorrect.

The Basic Structure doctrine is recognized in India, Bangladesh, Malaysia, Pakistan, Kenya, and Uganda. The High Court of Singapore denied the application of the basic features doctrine in Singapore. It held that the doctrine was not applicable to the Singapore Constitution: "Considering the differences in the making of the Indian and our Constitution, it cannot be said that our Parliament's power to amend our Constitution is limited in the same way as the Indian Parliament's power to amend the Indian Constitution"

The Constitution of India stands for a Secular State. Hence, it does not uphold any particular religion as the official religion of the Indian State

Statement 1 is correct.

Article 25 says that all persons are equally entitled to freedom of conscience and the right to freely profess, practice and propagate religion. It provides right to propagate that include transmission and dissemination of one's religious beliefs to others or exposition of the tenets of one's religion. But it does not include a right to convert another person to one's own religion. Forcible conversions impinge on the 'freedom of conscience' guaranteed to all the persons alike.

Statement 2 is correct.

Article 27 lays down that no person shall be compelled to pay any taxes for the promotion or maintenance of any particular religion or religious denomination. In other words, the State should not spend the public money collected by way of tax for the promotion or maintenance of any particular religion. This provision prohibits the State from favouring, patronising and supporting one religion over the other. This means that the taxes can be used for the promotion or maintenance of all religions.

Statement 3 is incorrect.

Under Article 28, no religious instruction shall be provided in any educational institution wholly maintained out of State funds. However, this provision shall not apply to an educational institution administered by the State but established under any endowment or trust, requiring imparting of religious instruction in such institution.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

The American Constitution was the first to begin with a Preamble. Many countries, including India, followed this practice. The term 'Preamble' refers to the introduction or preface to the Constitution. It contains the summary or essence of the Constitution.

Statement 1 is incorrect.

The Preamble has been amended only once so far, in 1976, by the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act, which has added three new words—Socialist, Secular and Integrity—to the Preamble.

The question as to whether the Preamble can be amended under Article 368 of the Constitution arose for the first time in the historic Kesavananda Bharati case (1973). The Supreme Court held that the Preamble is a part of the Constitution. SC held that the Preamble can be amended, subject to the condition that no amendment is done to the 'basic features'.

Statement 2 is incorrect.

The Preamble to the Indian Constitution is based on the 'Objectives Resolution', drafted and moved by Jawaharlal Nehru, and adopted by the Constituent Assembly. It was not written by N.A. Palkhivala. He called the Preamble as the 'identity card of the Constitution'.

Q.22) In which of the following landmark cases, the Supreme Court of India ruled that the ‘Limited amending power of the Parliament’ is a part of the Basic Structure?

- Shankari Prasad vs Union of India
- Minerva Mills vs Union of India
- Kesavananda Bharati vs State of Kerala
- Golaknath vs State of Punjab

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The constituent/ amending power given to the Parliament by Article 368 has been a subject of great controversy and litigation in India. Following are the landmark cases which shaped the rules and precedents for handling of this issue.

Option a is incorrect: In the Shankari Prasad vs Union of India case in 1951, the very first constitutional amendment act providing for changes in fundamental rights (in particular limiting right to property in order to pass land reforms) was called into question. The judiciary took a very conservative stand on this issue. It held that Article 368 empowers the Parliament to amend the Constitution. This power can be utilised by the Parliament to make amendments of any nature and to whatever part is required.

Option b is correct: Minerva Mills vs Union of India was a landmark case in 1980, in which the SC declared that the Directive Principles of State Policy (DPSP) and the Fundamental Rights are two wheels of a chariot, both being important for Indian polity.

SFG 2022 | LEVEL 2 | Test 1 – Solutions |

More importantly on the issue regarding the amending powers of the Parliament, it held that the amendments made to the constitution by the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act of 1976 which made the constituent/ amending power of the constitution unlimited, were null and void as they failed the Basic Structure Doctrine test. The Court held that the Limited amending power of the Parliament is a part of the basic structure doctrine.

Option c is incorrect: In the Kesavananda Bharati vs State of Kerala case in 1973, the landmark Basic Structure Doctrine was propounded. In a reversal from its previous stand on this matter, the Supreme Court decided that the Parliament can amend any part of the constitution, including the Fundamental Rights. However it attached two caveats to this power:

All amendments must be made in such a manner that the Basic Structure (features that embody the true & original ideology and spirit of the constitution) of the Constitution is not altered or destroyed.

Option d is incorrect: In the case of Golaknath vs State of Punjab, the Supreme Court overturned its decision in the Shankari Prasad case and said that the Constitution has given a transcendental position to the Fundamental Rights and hence they cannot be amended by the Parliament using the powers under Article 368. It said that the constitutional amendment acts comprised the group of laws mentioned in Article 13 which were liable to Judicial Review and reversal in case they infringed on the fundamental rights of the citizen.

Q.23) Which of the following statement is correct with regard to the concept of 'citizenship'?

- Citizenship refers to the country where an individual was born.
- Citizenship ensures that all citizens have an absolute right to freedom of speech.
- Citizenship involves obligations of citizens to each other and to the society.
- In India, citizenship cannot be acquired by descent.

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Citizenship has been defined as full and equal membership of a political community. Full and equal membership means that all citizens, rich or poor, should be guaranteed certain basic rights and a minimum standard of living by the state.

Option a is incorrect. Nationality refers to the location or country where an individual was born.

Citizenship refers to when an individual is registered as a citizen by the government of the country.

Option b is incorrect. The precise nature of the rights granted to citizens varies from state to state. Though in most democratic countries today they would include some political rights like the right to vote, civil rights like the freedom of speech or belief, and some socio-economic rights which could include the right to a minimum wage, or the right to education. But it will depend upon the Constitutional arrangement that which rights is granted.

Option c is correct. Citizenship is more than the relationship between states and their members. It is also about citizen-citizen relations. It involves certain obligations of citizens to each other and to the society. These would include not just the legal obligations imposed by states but also a moral obligation to contribute to the shared life of the community. Citizens are also considered to be the inheritors and trustees of the culture and natural resources of the country.

Option d is incorrect. The Constitution adopted an essentially democratic and inclusive notion of citizenship. In India, citizenship can be acquired by birth, descent, registration, naturalisation, or inclusion of territory. Naturalisation is also a method to acquire the citizenship.

- a) 1, 2, 3 and 4 only
- b) 3, 5 and 6 only
- c) 1, 3 and 5 only
- d) 2, 4 and 5 only

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

The word 'any person' in the Constitution denoted that this right is conferred to all persons whether citizens or foreigners. Ex – No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law. (Article 21)

The word 'citizen' is used to specify the rights available only to the citizens. Ex – No citizen can be discriminated against in matters of public employment on the grounds of only religion, race, caste, sex, descent, and place of birth or residence. (Article 16)

Q.25) Consider the following statements regarding 'Rare Diseases':

- 1. Every country sets its own definition and criteria for categorising rare diseases.
  - 2. Disease that can be managed with special diets or other relatively low-cost interventions are excluded under rare diseases definition in India.
  - 3. Rashtriya Arogya Nidhi program provides direct financial support to all citizen diagnosed with a rare disease.
- Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 1 and 2 only
- c) 2 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

Statement 1 is correct.

WHO defines a rare disease as a lifelong disease or disorder that often highly weakens an individual. However, every country has its own definition for rare diseases. The US defines rare diseases as a disease or condition that affects fewer than 200,000 patients in the country. Likewise, the EU defines rare diseases as life-threatening or chronically debilitating (weakening) condition. It should affect no more than 5 in 10,000 people.

Statement 2 is incorrect.

According to National Policy for Rare Diseases, 2021, rare diseases include a disease that can be managed with special diets or hormonal supplements or other relatively low-cost interventions.

SFG 2022 | LEVEL 2 | Test 1 – Solutions |

Statement 3 is incorrect.

Rashtriya Arogya Nidhi scheme provides financial assistance to patients living below the poverty line and who are suffering from major life-threatening diseases. Group 3 rare diseases are not covered under the scheme. It has absolutely no consideration for Group 3 patients who require lifelong treatment support.

Q.26) Which of the following is a correct description of the term 'Sovereign' as mentioned in the Indian constitution?

- Possession of supreme national power by its people.
- The head of the state is an elected person.
- Absence of restrictions on the activities of individuals.
- India is not dependent or bound by anyone in the conduct of its external affairs.

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

Sovereignty is a term mentioned in the Preamble to the Indian Constitution. India became a sovereign with the promulgation of the Constitution of India.

Statement a is incorrect: Possession of supreme political power in the nation by the common people, i.e. citizens is termed as Democracy. It means government of the people, for the people and by the people. This means that the common citizens (and no monarch/ king) decide who will form the government and how the country and its affairs will be run. This is done either by participation of all the citizens in policy making activity - Direct Democracy or by all the people in the nation electing representatives in order to conduct policy making (Representative Democracy, like India). This is characterised by universal adult franchise (right of voting for choosing government to all citizens). The Indian Constitution identifies India as a democracy in the Preamble, and operationalized this through Article 236 (universal adult franchise).

Statement b is incorrect: If the Head of the State is a person who is elected (directly or indirectly) it is known as a Republic, like India is.

On the other hand the country whose Head of State is a person who gets this title hereditarily is known as a Monarchy, like in Britain.

Statement c is incorrect: Absence of restrictions on the activities of individuals is termed as Liberty. It also means that this freedom is to be provided in such a manner that one individual's freedom does not cause harm to another individual. India's constitution pledges to provide its citizens Liberty in the Preamble. It does so through Fundamental Rights like those enshrined in Article 19 (Right to Freedom).

Statement d is correct: The term Sovereignty refers to a nation which is not a dependency or dominion of any other nation (like it used to be under the Britishers before 1947). A sovereign nation takes its decisions independently according to its interests, be it in internal matters, or even in external matters, as mentioned in the statement. Membership of global platforms and groupings like UNO, WTO or Commonwealth does not mean that the nation has given up its right to decide its external matters according to its interests.

Q.27) With reference to the effects of the Kesavananda Bharati Case, consider the following statements:

- It held that the Preamble is a part of the constitution.
- It overturned its earlier judgement regarding Parliament's lack of power to amend the Fundamental Rights.
- It defined the Basic Structure as 'provisions which cherishes Constitutional sovereignty and Individual liberty'.
- It held that the Constitutional Amendments enacted after April 24, 1973 are open to judicial review.

Which of the statements given above is/ are correct?

- 1, 2 and 3 only
- 2, 3 and 4 only
- 1 and 2 only
- 1, 2, 3 and 4

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

SFG 2022 | LEVEL 2 | Test 1 – Solutions |  ForumIAS

Kesavananda Bharati vs State of Kerala was a landmark case heard by a 13-judge constitutional bench of the Supreme Court on 24th April, 1973. The main issue tackled in it was the extent of the Parliament's amending power. This case resulted in the unique concept of the Basic Structure Doctrine. According to it, the Parliament could amend all parts of the Constitution, like the Preamble, the Fundamental Rights, etc. However their amending power was limited and could not be expanded to give themselves unlimited powers. The Parliament could make amendments only if those amendments did not damage the Basic Structure (features that embody the true & original ideology and spirit of the constitution) of the Constitution.

Statement 1 is correct: Earlier in the Berubari Union case of 1960, the Supreme Court had held that the Preamble is not a part of the constitution. However the question as to whether the Preamble can be amended or not was raised in the Kesavananda case as well. However this time, a larger constitutional bench of the Supreme Court, revised its earlier stand on the issue. It held that:

- 1) The Preamble is a part of the constitution and hence can be amended.
- 2) The amendment shall have to follow the Basic Structure Doctrine.

Statement 2 is correct: It overturned the precedent set by the judiciary in the Golaknath vs State of Punjab case. In the Golaknath case, it was held that Fundamental Rights are absolute as Article 13 includes constitutional amendment acts made under Article 368. Therefore any amendment which changes any fundamental right, may be put up for judicial review under Article 13.

In the Kesavananda case however, the SC revised its earlier judgement

Statement 3 is incorrect:

The Kesavananda Bharati case in 1973 held that the “basic structure of the Constitution could not be abrogated even by a constitutional amendment”. It, however, did not specify what would constitute ‘basic structure’, leaving it open for courts to interpret on a case-by-case basis.

Statement 4 is incorrect: It was in the Waman Rao case (1981), that the Supreme Court clarified that the doctrine of Basic Structure would apply to constitutional amendments enacted after April 24, 1973 (i.e., the date of the judgement in the Kesavananda Bharati case).

Q.28) In July 1946, the Indian National Congress appointed an ‘Experts Committee’. With reference to this Experts Committee of Congress, consider the following statements:

1. It was appointed to prepare material for the Constituent Assembly.
2. It recommended the draft of the Objectives Resolution.
3. Krishna Kriplani was the chairman of this committee.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 1 and 2 only
- c) 2 and 3 only
- d) 3 only

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

Even before the elections to the Assembly had concluded, the Congress Party had one eye on the Constituent Assembly. The Congress Working Committee on 9 July 1946, appointed an Experts Committee to undertake preliminary constitution-making work. The Committee consisted of Jawaharlal Nehru (Chairman), K.M. Munshi, N Gopalsawmi Ayyangar, K.T. Shah, D.R. Gadgil, Humayun Kabir and K Santhanam. Evidently, the Congress Party consciously included individuals who were not Congress members.

Statement 1 is correct. While elections to the Constituent Assembly were still in progress, on July 8, 1946, the Congress Party (Indian National Congress) appointed an Experts Committee for the purpose of preparing material for the Constituent Assembly.

Statement 2 is correct. The Experts Committee held two sittings in July and submitted its recommendations that contained procedures for the election of the Assembly's top functionaries and the setting up of important Assembly committees. But the most significant part of the recommendations was a section titled ‘Declaration of Objectives’ – the very first version of what would later become the Objectives Resolution.

Q.29) With reference to the views and ideals of liberty, consider the following questions:

1. Positive Liberty recognizes that one can be free only in the society and not outside it.
2. For J S Mill, minor harm in the society should be dealt by force of laws.
3. The focus of Modern liberalism is on community development only.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 1 and 2 only
- c) 2 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

As a political ideology, liberalism has been identified with tolerance as a value. Liberals have often defended the right of a person to hold and express his/her opinions and beliefs even when they disagree with them. But that is not all that there is to liberalism. And liberalism is not the only modern ideology that supports tolerance.

Statement 1 is correct. Positive liberty advocates are much more ambitious - they look to enlarge this area of self-determined action as much as possible. Positive liberty recognizes that one can be free only in society (not outside it). Hence tries to make the society such that it enables the development of the individual. Whereas negative liberty is only concerned with the inviolable area of non-interference and not with the conditions in society, outside this area, as such.

Statement 2 is incorrect. The harm principle states that the only actions that can be prevented are ones that create harm. In other words, a person can do whatever he wants as long as his actions do not harm others. For J S Mill, minor harm should not have any force of laws but only social disapproval.

Statement 3 is incorrect. What is more distinctive about modern liberalism is its focus on the individual. For liberals entities like family, society, community have no value in themselves, but only if these are valued by individuals.

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 3 only
- c) 2 and 3 only
- d) 1 and 3 only

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The Communal Award, also known as the MacDonald Award, was a scheme for representation of the minorities. It was announced in August 1932 by Ramsay MacDonald, the British Prime Minister.

Statement 1 is incorrect. The Communal Award was based on the findings of the Indian Franchise Committee (also called the Lothian Committee) and not on the recommendation of Simon Commission. It expanded the separate electorate to lower Classes and other minorities. Simon Commission was appointed in November 1927 to report on the condition of India under its new Constitution and suggest future measures.

Simon Commission rejected the proposal of a separate electorate for the depressed classes; however, it retained the concept of reserving seats.

Statement 2 is incorrect. The Indian Councils Act 1909 established a distinct electorate for Muslims, which was later expanded to include Sikhs, Indian Christians, Anglo-Indians, and Europeans by the Government of India Act 1919 (not by Communal Award). The Communal Award not only continued separate electorates for the Muslims, Sikhs, Indian Christians, Anglo-Indians and Europeans but also extended it to the depressed classes (Scheduled Castes).

Statement 3 is correct. Mahatma Gandhi was distressed over this extension of the principle of communal representation to the depressed classes and undertook fast unto death in Yerawada Jail (Poona) to get the award modified. Q.44) Which of the following is/are salient features of the Constitution of India?

1. Three-tier Governance model
2. Judicial Supremacy over parliamentary sovereignty
3. Blend of Rigidity and Flexibility
4. Larger dependence on Conventions
5. Single Citizenship

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- a) 1, 3 and 4 only
- b) 1, 3 and 5 only
- c) 2, 3, 4 and 5 only
- d) 1, 3, 4 and 5 only

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The Indian Constitution is unique in its contents and spirit. Though borrowed from almost every Constitution of the world, the Constitution of India has several salient features that distinguish it from the Constitutions of the other countries.

Statement 1, 3 and 5 are correct.

- 1) Three-tier Government: Originally, the Indian Constitution, like any other federal Constitution, provided for a dual polity and contained provisions with regard to the organisation and powers of the Centre and the states. Later, the 73rd and 74th Constitutional Amendment Acts (1992) have added a third-tier of Government (i.e., local) which is not found in any other Constitution of the world.
- 2) Blend of Rigidity and Flexibility: The Constitution of India is neither rigid nor flexible, but a synthesis of both. Some provisions of the Constitution can be amended by a simple majority of the Parliament in the manner of ordinary legislative process. Some other provisions can be amended by a special majority of the Parliament and with the ratification by half of the total states.
- 3) Single Citizenship: Though the Indian Constitution is federal and envisages a dual polity (Centre and states), it provides for only a single citizenship, that is, the Indian citizenship. In countries like USA, on the other hand, each person is not only a citizen of USA, but also a citizen of the particular state to which he belongs. Thus, he owes allegiance to both and enjoys dual sets of rights—one conferred by the National government and another by the state government.

Statement 2 and 4 are incorrect.

The doctrine of sovereignty of Parliament is associated with the British Parliament, while the principle of judicial supremacy with that of the American Supreme Court. The framers of the Indian Constitution have preferred a proper synthesis between the British principle of parliamentary sovereignty and the American principle of judicial supremacy.

Constitutional conventions are often thought of as "unwritten" but sometimes conventions are recorded in writing. They play a key role in British Political system due to uncoded nature of British constitution. Indian Constitution is a very comprehensive, elaborate and detailed document. The role of convention is less acknowledged in Indian Political setup.

Knowledge Base: Other Salient Features of Indian Constitution:

- 1) Drawn From Various Sources: The Constitution of India has borrowed most of its provisions from the Constitutions of various other countries as well as from the Government of India Act 1935.
- 2) Federal System with Unitary Bias: The Constitution of India establishes a federal system of Government. It contains all the usual features of a federation, viz., two Government, division of powers, written Constitution, supremacy of Constitution, rigidity of Constitution, independent judiciary and bicameralism.
- 3) Parliamentary Form of Government: The Constitution of India has opted for the British Parliamentary System of Government rather than American Presidential System of Government. The parliamentary system is based on the principle of co-operation and co-ordination between the legislative and executive organs while the presidential system is based on the doctrine of separation of powers between the two organs.
- 4) Integrated and Independent Judiciary: The Indian Constitution establishes a judicial system that is integrated as well as independent. The Supreme Court stands at the top of the integrated judicial system in the country. Below it, there are high courts at the state level. Under a high court, there is a hierarchy of subordinate courts, that is, district courts and other lower courts.
- 5) Secular State: The Constitution of India stands for a Secular State. Hence, it does not uphold any particular religion as the official religion of the Indian State.

Q.47) Which of the following Constitutional provisions deals with the 'socialist' principles?

1. Encouraging equitable distribution of resources among citizens.
2. Creation of welfare state.
3. Minimising inequality in opportunities.
4. Prohibition on taxation for maintenance of any particular religion.

Select the correct option using the code given below:

- a) 1, 2 and 3 only
- b) 2, 3 and 4 only
- c) 1 and 2 only
- d) 1, 2, 3 and 4

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

Socialism was added to the Preamble of the Indian constitution, by the 42nd Constitutional Amendment Act in 1976.

Option 1 is correct: Socialism as opposed to the ideology of capitalism believes in equality of all and does not believe in private property or accumulation of resources by individuals. The Directive Principles of State Policy (DPSP) mentioned in Part IV of the Indian constitution have some Socialistic principles. One of these (Article 39(b)) mentions that the state should strive to ensure that national resources should be equally distributed among all citizens, as far as possible. In communist socialism this translates into complete nationalisation of all resources and industries of the nation. However in democratic socialism like that in India, the economy is mixed, i.e. private and public sectors co-exist side by side, so the State nationalises only few essential resources and regulates the rest to prevent malpractices like monopoly, etc.

Option 2 is correct: While capitalism believes in the private sector taking all the roles, Socialism believes that essential services required for the well being of a human should be provided by the State. Such a state is known as welfare state and is envisaged in the Indian constitution. In the DPSPs of Part IV of the Indian constitution Articles 39, 39(A), 41, 42, 43 etc encourage the State to offer living wages, equal pay, free legal aid, maternity benefits, etc.

SFG 2022 | LEVEL 2 | Test 1 – Solutions |

Option 3 is correct: The idea of Indian democratic socialism, as embodied in the Indian constitution, both in the Preamble as well as in Article 38, under DPSP (Part IV) talks about bringing in equality of opportunities. This means regardless of an individual's personal wealth, the State shall strive to provide access to important services that are essential for all round development and dignity. For example, free and compulsory education (fundamental right under Article 21A), free healthcare (schemes like Ayushman Bharat, Article 39(f), Article 47), good infrastructure like roads, internet, etc.

Option 4 is incorrect: The ideology of Socialism negates the existence of God and therefore religion. In contrast, the idea of secularism, as per Indian constitution, is equal respect and help to all religions as well as freedom for individual citizens to confess, practice and preach their religion. These ideals are enshrined in the Preamble as well as in Articles 25-28 of Part III (Fundamental Rights) of the Indian constitution. One of them, Article 27, mentions that no tax shall be collected from citizens for the promotion or maintenance of any one particular religion, however they may be used to help all religions without bias.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 2 only
- c) 1 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) b

Statement 1 is incorrect. The tribal areas in the four states of Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura and Mizoram have been constituted as autonomous districts. But they do not fall outside the executive authority of the state concerned.

Statement 2 is correct. The district and regional councils are empowered to assess and collect land revenue and to impose certain specified taxes. Each autonomous district has a district council consisting of 30 members, of whom four are nominated by the governor and the remaining 26 are elected on the basis of adult franchise.

Statement 3 is incorrect. There has been a vocal demand to include Ladakh under the sixth schedule. However, nothing has been done as such. In Leh and Kargil, the UT has two Hill councils, however none is covered by the Sixth Schedule.
