Q.1) With reference to 'Indian Federation', which one of the following statements correctly describe the difference between the 'Territory of India' and 'Union of India'?

- 'Territory of India' implies the power of Union to amend its borders, while 'Union of India' describe the destructible nature of Indian state.
- 'Union of India' has no formal existence under Indian Constitution, while 'Territory of India' is recognized under the Constitution.
- 'Union of India' is a wider expression than 'Territory of India'.
- 'Union of India' implies federal relationship between Union and only states, while 'Territory of India' include not only the states but all other units like the Union Territories.

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

Article 1 describes India, that is, Bharat as a 'Union of States' rather than a 'Federation of States'. This provision deals with two things: one, name of the country; and two, type of polity. The names of states and union territories and their territorial extent are mentioned in the first schedule of the Constitution. At present, there are 28 states and 9 union territories.

With reference to the government in India, the two terms namely "Union of India" and "Territory of India" have specific meanings. 'Union of India' stands for the states that share federal powers with the Union Governments, but Territory of India include not only the states but all other units like the Union Territories. In other words, the territory of India includes a larger area as compared to the union of India. i.e., the territory of India covers the entire territory over which Indian sovereignty is exercised while Union of India covers only the federal system.

Option a is incorrect. According to Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the phrase 'Union of States' has been preferred to 'Federation of States' for two reasons: one, the Indian Federation is not the result of an agreement among the states like the American Federation; and two, the states have no right to secede from the federation. The federation is an Union because it is indestructible. The country is an integral whole and divided into different states only for the convenience of administration

Option b is incorrect. Article 1 of Constitution mentions India as union of States. Article 1 also mentions what constitutes as Territory of India. According to which territory of India shall comprise of- (a) The territories of the States; (b) The union territories as specified in the First Schedule; and (c) Such other territories as may be acquired.

Option c is incorrect. The 'Territory of India' is a wider expression than the 'Union of India' because the latter includes only states while the former includes not only the states, but also union territories and territories that may be acquired by the Government of India at any future time. Q.2) Consider the following statements regarding the Land Boundary Agreement between India and Bangladesh.

- The 100th Constitutional Amendment Act involved exchange of enclaves and transfer of adverse possessions between India and Bangladesh.
- Land Boundary Agreement of 1974 did not address the issue of demarcation of un-demarcated boundary between India and Bangladesh.
- The 100th Constitutional Amendment Act amended the provisions relating to the territories of West Bengal, Assam and Sikkim in the First Schedule of the Constitution.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- 1 only
- 2 and 3 only
- 1 and 3 only
- 3 only

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

The 100th Constitutional Amendment Act (2015) was enacted to give effect to the acquiring of certain territories by India and transfer of certain other territories to Bangladesh in pursuance of the Land

Boundary agreement (1974) and its protocol (2011) entered into between the Governments of India and Bangladesh.

Statement 1 is correct.

Under 100th Constitutional Amendment Act, India transferred 111 enclaves to Bangladesh, while Bangladesh transferred 51 enclaves to India. In addition, the deal also involved the transfer of adverse possessions (adverse possession is a principle of real estate law that allows a person who possesses someone else's land for an extended period of time) and the demarcation of a 6.1 km un-demarcated border stretch.

Statement 2 is incorrect.

On May 16, 1974, the Agreement between India and Bangladesh concerning the demarcation of the land boundary and related matters was signed between both the countries to find a solution to the complex nature of the border demarcation involved.

The issues relating to demarcation of un-demarcated boundary; the territories in adverse possession; and exchange of enclaves forms an integral part of the Land Boundary Agreement between India and Bangladesh, 1974. It was later identified and resolved by signing a Protocol on September 6, 2011.

This Agreement was not ratified as it involved, inter alia, transfer of territory which requires a Constitutional Amendment.

Statement 3 is incorrect.

The 100th Amendment Act of 2015 gave effect to the acquiring of certain territories by India and transfer of certain other territories to Bangladesh through the exchange of enclaves and retention of adverse possessions. For this purpose, this amendment act amended the provisions relating to the territories of four states (Assam, West Bengal, Meghalaya and Tripura) in the First Schedule of the Constitution. State of Sikkim was not involved into the transfer or exchange of territory between India and Bangladesh.

Q.3) Which of the following statements is/are the correct reason for India being described as a 'Union of States' rather than a 'Federation of States'?

1. Indian Federation is not the result of an agreement or contract among the states like the American Federation.
2. Indian federation is governed by division of powers between Centre and State through Constitutional pledge.
3. India Federation is an integral whole and states have no right to secede from the federation.
4. Indian Federation can be amended by the consent of both Central and state governments.

Select the correct answer using the codes given below:

- a) 1 and 4 only
- b) 2 and 3 only
- c) 1 and 3 only
- d) 2 and 4 only

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Article 1 describes India, that is, Bharat as a 'Union of States' rather than a 'Federation of States'. According to Article 1, the territory of India can be classified into three categories: Territories of the states; Union territories; Territories that may be acquired by the Government of India at any time.

Statement 1 and 3 are the correct reason for India being described as a 'Union of States' rather than a 'Federation of States'. According to Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the phrase 'Union of States' has been preferred to 'Federation of States' for two reasons:

- 1) The Indian Federation is not the result of an agreement among the states like the American Federation. Indian Federation is not coming together of states (agreement) but holding together of states. Here, power flows from the Union and not from the states. On the other hand, American Federation is coming together of states. Here, the states are independent autonomous units.
- 2) The states have no right to secede from the federation. The federation is a Union because it is indestructible. The country is an integral whole and divided into different states only for the convenience of administration.

Statement 2 and 4 are not the correct reason for India being described as a ‘Union of States’ rather than a ‘Federation of States’: These statements describe the federal features of Indian Constitution, but did not justify the phrase ‘Union of States’.

Q.4) Which of the following provisions are reflected under ‘Article 1’ of Indian Constitution?

1. Establishment of New States
2. Name of Country
3. Definition of State
4. Type of Polity

Select the correct answer using the codes given below:

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 1, 2 and 4 only
- c) 2 and 4 only
- d) 3 and 4 only

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Statement 2 and 4 are correct: Article 1 describes India, that is, Bharat as a ‘Union of States’ rather than a ‘Federation of States’. This provision deals with two things: one, name of the country; and two, type of polity.

- 1) Name of Country: There was no unanimity in the Constituent Assembly with regard to the name of the country. Some members suggested the traditional name (Bharat), while other advocated the modern name (India). Hence, the Constituent Assembly had to adopt a mix of both (‘India, that is, Bharat’).
- 2) Type of Polity: India is described as ‘Union’ although its Constitution is federal in structure. According to Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the phrase ‘Union of States’ has been preferred to ‘Federation of States’. The federation is a Union because it is indestructible. The country is an integral whole and divided into different states only for the convenience of administration.

Statement 1 and 3 are incorrect: Article 2 deals with the provisions regarding establishment of new states. It empowers the Parliament to ‘admit into the Union of India, or establish, new states on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit’.

Article 12 describe the definition of State; including the Government and Parliament of India and the Government and the Legislature of each of the States and all local or other authorities within the territory of India or under the control of the Government of India

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 1 and 2 only
- c) 2 only
- d) 3 only

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

Statement 1 is incorrect.

Q.6) Consider the following statements:

1. The recommendation of the President is mandatory to introduce the bill seeking to alter the boundaries of any state in India.
2. Constitutional Amendment under Article 368 is necessary for admission or establishment of new states under Indian Constitution.
3. Parliament is not bound by the views of the state legislature on the matter relating to altering the name of any state.

Which of the statements given above are correct?

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 2 and 3 only
- c) 1 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Article 2 of Indian Constitution empowers the Parliament to 'admit into the Union of India, or establish, new states on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit'. Thus, Article 2 grants two powers to the Parliament: (a) the power to admit into the Union of India new states; and (b) the power to establish new states.

Statement 1 is correct: Under Article 3 of the Constitution, a bill contemplating the changes with respect to increase the area of any state; diminish the area of any state; alter the boundaries of any state; and alter the name of any state, can be introduced in the Parliament only with the prior recommendation of the President.

Statement 2 is incorrect: Constitution under Article 4 itself declares that laws made for admission or establishment of new states and formation of new states and alteration of areas, boundaries or names of existing states are not to be considered as amendments of the Constitution under Article 368. This means that such laws can be passed by a simple majority and by the ordinary legislative process.

Statement 3 is correct: The President has to refer the bill seeking the changes under Article 3 to the state legislature concerned for expressing its views within a specified period. The President or Parliament is not bound by the views of the state legislature and may either accept or reject them, even if the views are received in time.

Q.7) Which one of the following statements is correct regarding the system of 'Double Membership' in parliamentary form of government?

- a) It states that no person shall be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once.
- b) The Ministers in Indian polity are members of both the legislature and the executive.
- c) The Member of Parliament are entitled to speak and vote in both Lok Sabha and Rajya Sabha in India.

d) It includes integrated judicial system with the Supreme Court at the top and the state high courts below it.

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The ministers are members of both the legislature and the executive. This means that a person cannot be a minister without being a member of the Parliament. The Constitution stipulates that a minister who is not a member of the Parliament for a period of six consecutive months ceases to be a minister.

Option a is incorrect.

Double jeopardy: Person can be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once. The protection against double jeopardy is available only in proceedings before a court of law or a judicial tribunal under Article 20. In other words, it is not available in proceedings before departmental or administrative authorities as they are not of judicial nature.

Option c is incorrect.

A Minister, not all members have the right to speak in and take part in the proceedings of Rajya Sabha but has no right to vote in Rajya Sabha and vice-versa. Not all members have the right to speak in and take part in the proceedings of the house in which they are not a member.

Option d is incorrect.

The Indian Constitution has established an integrated judicial system with the Supreme Court at the top and the state high courts below it. This single system of courts enforces both the Central laws as well as the state laws. In US, on the other hand, there is a double system of courts whereby the federal laws are enforced by the federal judiciary and the state laws by the state judiciary.

Q.8) Which of the following are possible demerits of the “Indian Parliamentary form of Government”?

1. Government by Amateurs
2. Lack of responsibility of Executive
3. Against Separation of Power
4. Dictatorship of the Cabinet

Select the correct answer using the codes given below:

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 1, 3 and 4 only
- c) 2, 3 and 4 only
- d) 1, 2, 3 and 4

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The parliamentary system of government is the one in which the executive is responsible to the legislature for its policies and acts. The Constitution of India provides for a parliamentary form of government, both at the Centre and in the states. Articles 74 and 75 deal with the parliamentary system at the Centre and Articles 163 and 164 in the states.

Statement 1, 3 and 4 are correct.

Demerits of Parliamentary form of Government:

- 1) Government by Amateurs: The parliamentary system is not conducive to administrative efficiency as the ministers are not experts in their fields. The Prime Minister has a limited choice in the selection of ministers; his choice is restricted to the members of Parliament alone and does not extend to external talent.
- 2) Against Separation of Powers: In the parliamentary system, the legislature and the executive are together and inseparable. The cabinet acts as the leader of legislature as well as the executive. As Bagehot points out, ‘the cabinet is a hyphen that joins the buckle that binds the executive and legislative departments together.’ Hence, the whole system of government goes against the letter and spirit of the theory of separation of powers. In fact, there is a fusion of powers.
- 3) Dictatorship of the Cabinet: When the ruling party enjoys absolute majority in the Parliament, the cabinet becomes autocratic and exercises nearly unlimited powers. H.J. Laski says that the parliamentary system gives the executive an opportunity for tyranny. Ramsay Muir, the former British Prime Minister, also complained of the 'dictatorship of the cabinet'. This phenomenon was witnessed during the era of Indira Gandhi and Rajiv Gandhi. Emergency rule in 1975, showed that even a parliamentary system can be distorted to permit autocratic rule through the Dictatorship of the Cabinet.

- 4) Unstable Government: The parliamentary system does not provide a stable government. There is no guarantee that a government can survive its tenure. The ministers depend on the mercy of the majority legislators for their continuity and survival in office. A no-confidence motion or political defection or evils of multiparty coalition can make the government unstable.
- 5) No Continuity of Policies: The parliamentary system is not conducive for the formulation and implementation of long-term policies. This is due to the uncertainty of the tenure of the government. A change in the ruling party is usually followed by changes in the policies of the government. For example, the Janata Government headed by Morarji Desai in 1977 reversed a large number of policies of the previous Congress Government.

Statement 2 is incorrect.

One of the merits of Parliamentary form of government is responsible government. The ministers are responsible to the Parliament for all their acts of omission and commission. The Parliament exercises control over the ministers through various devices like question hour, discussions, adjournment motion, no confidence motion, etc.

Q.9) Consider the following statements:

1. Kitchen Cabinet is formed by the opposition party to prepare its members for future ministerial office.
2. The institution of Kitchen Cabinet is limited to Parliamentary form of Government in Britain only.

Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

A cabinet is a body of high-ranking state officials, typically consisting of the executive branch's top leaders. Members of a cabinet are usually called cabinet ministers or secretaries.

Statement 1 is incorrect: Kitchen cabinet is a reference to a President's or Prime Minister's informal circle of advisers, as opposed to the official members of his cabinet. This informal body consists of the Prime Minister and two to four influential colleagues in whom he has faith and with whom he can discuss every problem. It advises the prime minister on important political and administrative issues and assists him in making crucial decisions. It is composed of not only cabinet ministers but also outsiders like friends and family members of the prime minister.

'Shadow Cabinet' is formed by the Opposition party to balance the ruling cabinet and to prepare its members for future ministerial offices.

Statement 2 is incorrect.

The phenomenon of 'kitchen cabinet' (where decisions are cooked and placed before the cabinet for formal approval) is not unique to Britain. It also exists in USA (Presidential Form of Government) and India and is quite powerful in influencing government decisions there.

During the era of Indira Gandhi, the 'Inner Cabinet' which came to be called the 'Kitchen Cabinet' was particularly powerful.

Q.10) With reference to Secondary Market in an Economy, which one of the following statements correctly describe the objective of 'Social Stock Exchange'?

- a) It will create a portal for corporate entities to invest in social sectors under Corporate Social Responsibility.
- b) It will be a platform for investors to donate their small percentage of earning towards social and humanitarian cause.

- c) It will help social and voluntary enterprises to raise capital in form of equity or debt or a unit of the mutual fund.
- d) It will streamline the funds from various government and private agencies into public schemes dedicated to upliftment of vulnerable section of the society.

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Social Stock Exchange (SSE) is a platform that allows investors to invest in select social enterprises or social initiatives. The aim is to help social and voluntary enterprises to raise capital in form of equity or debt or a unit of the mutual fund.

Social Enterprise is a revenue-generating business. The primary aim of social enterprise is to achieve a social objective such as providing healthcare or clean energy. SSE exists in countries such as Singapore, UK among others. These countries allow firms operating in social sectors to raise risk capital.

The proposal to set up SSEs in the country was first floated during the Union Budget in 2019.

In 2019, SEBI constituted a group under the chairmanship of Tata group veteran Ishaat Hussain.

In 2020, SEBI again set up the Technical Group (TG) under Harsh Bhanwala, ex-Chairman, NABARD. This time for getting further expert advice and clarity on SSE. That committee submitted its report.

Q.11) The founding fathers preferred the British type of parliamentary system over other forms of government due to which of the following reasons?

1. Preference to stronger executive to promote national spirit in the country
2. Familiarity with the British parliamentary System and constitutional traditions
3. Need to Avoid Legislative–Executive Conflicts
4. Homogenous society required Parliamentary system to build a united India

Select the correct answer using the codes given below:

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 2 and 3 only
- c) 1, 2 and 3 only
- d) 2, 3 and 4 only

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

Unlike the American Constitution, the Indian Constitution provides for the Parliamentary form of government. The parliamentary system of government is the one in which the executive is responsible to the legislature for its policies and acts.

Statement 2 and 3 are correct: A plea was made in favour of US presidential system of government in the Constituent Assembly. But the founding fathers preferred the British parliamentary system due to the following reasons:

- 1) Familiarity with the System: The Constitution-makers were somewhat familiar with the parliamentary system as it had been in operation in India during the British rule. K.M. Munshi argued that, 'For the last thirty or forty years, some kind of responsibility has been introduced in the governance of this country. Our constitutional traditions have become Parliamentary. After this experience, why should we go back and buy a novel experience.'
- 2) Need to Avoid Legislative–Executive Conflicts: The framers of the Constitution wanted to avoid the conflicts between the legislature and the executive which are bound to occur in the presidential system prevalent in USA. They thought that an infant democracy could not afford to take the risk of a perpetual cleavage, feud or conflict or threatened conflict between these two organs of the government. They wanted a form of government that would be conducive to the manifold development of the country.

Statement 1 and 4 are incorrect: India is one of the most heterogeneous States (not homogeneous state) and most complex plural societies in the world. Hence, the Constitution-makers adopted the parliamentary system as it offers greater scope for giving representation to various section, interests and regions in the government. This promotes a national spirit among the people and builds a united India.

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar pointed out in the Constituent Assembly that 'a democratic executive must satisfy two conditions: stability and responsibility. The British system gives more responsibility but less stability. The

Draft Constitution in recommending the parliamentary system of Executive has preferred more responsibility to more stability

Q.12) Which of the following statements describe the correct distinction between British and Indian form of Governments?

1. British system of Polity is based on the doctrine of the sovereignty of Parliament, while Indian system is based on the doctrine of the sovereignty of Judiciary.
2. Unlike Indian Prime Minister, Britain Prime Minister mandatorily has to be a member of the House of Commons.
3. Britain has the system of legal responsibility of the minister while India has no such system.
4. There is no 'Shadow Cabinet' institution in Indian Parliament as prevalent in Britain political system.

Select the correct answer using the codes given below:

- a) 1, 2 and 4 only
- b) 2 and 4 only
- c) 2, 3 and 4 only
- d) 1, 3 and 4 only

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

The parliamentary system of government in India is largely based on the British parliamentary system. However, it never became a replica of the British system and differs in the many respects.

Statement 1 is incorrect: The British system is based on the doctrine of the sovereignty of Parliament, while the Parliament is not supreme in India and enjoys limited and restricted powers due to a written Constitution, federal system, judicial review and fundamental rights. Indian system is also not based on the doctrine of Judicial Supremacy rather Supremacy of Constitution and principle of checks and balance prevails in India.

Statement 2 is correct: In Britain, the prime minister should be a member of the Lower House (House of Commons) of the Parliament. In India, the prime minister may be a member of any of the two Houses of Parliament.

Statement 3 is correct: Britain has the system of legal responsibility of the minister while India has no such system. Unlike in Britain, the ministers in India are not required to countersign the official acts of the Head of the State.

Statement 4 is correct: 'Shadow cabinet' is a unique institution of the British cabinet system. It is formed by the opposition party to balance the ruling cabinet and to prepare its members for future ministerial office.

There have been multiple experiments with shadow cabinets in India. However, these have happened only at the state level, not in the Parliament.

In 2005, a shadow cabinet was formed by the opposition in Maharashtra to counter the state government. Source: Laxmikanth Chapter 12 Parliamentary System

3. Bicameralism
4. Integrated Judiciary

- a) 3 and 4 only
- b) 2, 3 and 4 only

A federal government, is one in which powers are divided between the national government and the regional governments by the Constitution itself and both operate in their respective jurisdictions independently. Thus essentially, federal governments have dual government system.

Statement 1 is correct: A written constitution is helpful in clear delineation of powers between national and regional government and thus is a feature of federal form of government.

Statement 2 is correct: Rigid constitutions are those, which require a special procedure for the amendment. A federal government essentially needs a rigid constitution for the safety of the rights of the units as well as for the strength and integration of the federation.

Statement 3 is correct: Bicameralism ensures the representation of regional governments in the national government and is a feature of federal government.

Statement 4 is incorrect: Integrated judiciary is not a feature of federal form of government as both national and regional government have one judicial system. In federal form of government, there is a double system of courts whereby the federal laws are enforced by the federal judiciary and the state laws by the state judiciary.

Federal Government	Unitary Government
1. Dual Government (that is, national government and regional government)	1. Single government, that is, the national government which may create regional governments
2. Written Constitution	2. Constitution may be written (France) or unwritten (Britain)

Q.14) Consider the following statements with reference to quasi-federal structure of Indian Constitution:

1. The State list in the Seventh Schedule contains more subjects than the Union list.
2. The Parliament has authority to make laws on the residual subjects.

Which of the above given statements is/are true?

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The Indian Constitution possesses several unitary or non-federal features, having a strong centre is clearly one of it. The Seventh Schedule to the Constitution of India defines and specifies allocation of powers and functions between Union & States. It contains three lists; i.e., Union List, State List and a Concurrent List.

Statement 1 is incorrect: Originally there was 97 subjects in union list but now it is 100 subjects in union list. And in state list there was 66 subjects but now it is 61 subjects. And in concurrent list there was 47 subjects but now it is 52 subjects in concurrent list Thus the Union list has more subjects not the state list. And over the period, the union list has grown and state list has shrunk, highlighting growing centralizing tendency.

Statement 2 is correct: Article 248 of the constitution clearly states that the Union Parliament has exclusive power to make any law with respect to any matter not enumerated in the Concurrent List or the State List.

Knowledge Base: The seventh schedule under Article 246 of the constitution deals with the division of powers between the union and the states.

Q.16) Consider the following statements with reference to the territorial integrity of the states in India:

- The State Legislature can enlarge its territorial jurisdiction and possess the power of ‘extra-territorial legislation’ in some circumstances.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- 1 only
- 2 only
- Both 1 and 2
- Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

It is important to note that the integrity of the territory of the States is not guaranteed by the Constitution of India and Parliament is made Supreme even with respect to the questions relating to the territory.

Statement 1 is correct: The Constitution authorizes the Parliament to form new states or alter the areas, boundaries or names of the existing states without their consent. In other words, the Parliament can redraw the political map of India according to its will. Hence, the territorial integrity or continued existence of any state is not guaranteed by the Constitution. Therefore, India is rightly described as ‘an indestructible union of destructible states’.

Statement 2 is incorrect: It is not possible for a State Legislature to enlarge its territorial jurisdiction under any circumstances except when the boundaries of the state itself are widened by an act of Parliament.

As regards territory, Article 245 (1) provides that subject to the provisions of this constitution, a State Legislature may make laws for the whole or any part of the state to which it belongs. Parliament has, on the other hand, the power to legislate for 'the whole or any part of the territory of India, which includes not only the states but also the union territory of India. It also possess the power of 'extra-territorial legislation' Art. 245 (2), which no state legislature possesses.

Knowledge Base:

Article 1 deals with name of the country; and the type of polity.

Article 2 empowers the Parliament to 'admit into the Union of India, or establish, new states on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit'.

Article 3 details the power of parliament to reorganize states and/or union territories.

Select the correct answer using the code given below:

- a) 3 only
- b) 2 and 3 only
- c) 1 and 2 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Soon after independence, 571 princely states were reorganised and merged together to form 27 states. This reorganization of states was done on a temporary basis. The State Reorganization Commission formed in 1953 gave its report in 1955 to reorganize states into 16 states and 3 union territories.

Statement 1 is correct: By the States Reorganization Act (1956) and the 7th Constitutional Amendment Act (1956), the distinction between Part A and Part B states was done away with and Part C states were abolished. Some of them were merged with adjacent states and some other were designated as union territories. As a result, 14 states and 6 union territories were created on November 1, 1956.

Statement 2 is correct: The States Reorganization Act (1956) established the new state of Kerala by merging the Travancore-Cochin State with the Malabar District of Madras state and Kasargode of South Canara (Dakshina Kannada).

Statement 3 is incorrect: In the Bombay Reorganization Act, 1960 (not States Reorganization Act, 1956) bilingual state of Bombay was divided into two separate states-Maharashtra for Marathi speaking people and Gujarat for Gujarati speaking people. - a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 2 only
- c) 1 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

Statement 1 is incorrect.

Foreign Direct Investment in India has increased manyfold in the last 10 years. But it has not increased consistently with a dip in 2012-13 and 2013-14. The reason for this dip in the year 2012 and 2013 is poor performance of service sector in India along with ensuing global economic crisis.

Statement 2 is correct.

Saudi Arabia is the top investor in terms of percentage increase during FY21. It invested $2.8 billion in comparison to US$ 89.93 million reported in 2019-20. Singapore remained the largest source of FDI in India for the third consecutive year with a share of 29%. It was followed by the US with a 23% share and Mauritius with 9%.

Which of the above given statements is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

The President's rule can be proclaimed under Article 356 in case of failure of constitutional machinery in state.

Statement 1 is correct: When the President's rule is imposed in a state, the Parliament becomes empowered to make laws with respect to any matter in the State List in relation to that state. This means that laws would not be applicable to the rest of the states where the President's rule is not in force.

Statement 2 is incorrect: A law made by the Parliament during President's rule continues (does not cease) to be operative even after the President's Rule. This means that the period for which such a law remains in force is not coterminous with the duration of the proclamation. But it can be repealed or altered or re-enacted by the state legislature.

Statement 1 is incorrect: Such a resolution normally lasts for one year at a time. It may be renewed any number of times, but not exceeding one year at a time.

Statement 2 is correct: A law so enacted after the states' resolution applies to only to those states which have passed the resolutions. However, any other state may adopt it afterwards by passing a resolution to that effect in its legislature. The effect of passing a resolution under the above provision is that the Parliament becomes entitled to legislate with respect to a matter for which it has no power to make a law. On the other hand, the respective state legislature ceases to have the power to make a law with respect to that matter.

Statement 3 is incorrect: The law made by the parliament after the states' resolution can be amended or repealed only by the Parliament (not President) and not by the legislatures of the concerned states.

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only

Statement 3 is incorrect. Clause (2) of Article 304 guides the legislature of a state to impose reasonable restrictions on the freedom of trade, commerce and intercourse with that state or within that state in public interest. But, a bill for this purpose can be introduced in the legislature only with the prior sanction of the president. The reason for the transfer of surplus profit of the RBI to the Central government is to bridge central fiscal deficit and invest more in social sector schemes

Statement 2 is correct.

The Central Board of RBI approves the transfer of surplus profits to the Central government.

Recently, RBI (Reserve Bank of India) Central Board has approved the transfer of Rs. 99,122 crores as surplus to the central government. In May 2021, RBI Central Board has approved the transfer of Rs. 99,122 crores as surplus to the central government. The RBI's transfer to the government is above the budgeted expectations.

This was because of the higher earnings of RBI from open market operations as well as receipts from foreign currency sales.

Statement 3 is incorrect.

RBI has transferred the amount by keeping into account the Bimal Jalan Committee. The committee recommended that the RBI maintain a minimum Contingency Risk Buffer of 5.5% of its balance sheet.

Q.31) The Indian Constitution contains the “Full Faith and Credit” clause, which is related to:

- 1. Any official record made by a public servant in the discharge of his official duties
- 2. Public records of each state
- 3. Executive acts of the government of a state

Which of the above options is/are correct?

- a) 3 only
- b) 2 only
- c) 1 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

Under the Constitution, the jurisdiction of each state is confined to its own territory. Hence, it is possible that the acts and records of one state may not be recognised in another state.

Every state must recognize and respect the judgments, judicial proceedings, laws & records of other states.

To remove any such difficulty, Constitution lays down the following:

Full faith and credit is to be given throughout the territory of India to public acts, records and judicial proceedings of the Centre and every state. Hence, Option 2 is correct.

This clause is primarily invoked to enforce the functioning of an union, a state refusing to recognize acts and records of another state may give rise to confusion and inconvenience. This avoids inter-governmental conflicts.

Option 1 is correct. The expression ‘public record’ includes any official book, register or record made by a public servant in the discharge of his official duties.

Option 3 is correct. The expression ‘public acts’ includes both legislative and executive acts of the government.

Knowledge Base: The manner in which and the conditions under which such acts, records and proceedings are to be proved and their effect determined would be as provided by the laws of Parliament. This means that the general rule mentioned above is subject to the power of Parliament to lay down the mode of proof as well as the effect of such acts, records and proceedings of one state in another state.

Q.32) Consider the following statements:

1. Final judgements of civil courts in any part of India are capable of execution anywhere within India.
2. The courts of a state are always required to enforce the penal laws of another state.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- a) 1 only
- b) 2 only
- c) Both 1 and 2
- d) Neither 1 nor 2

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

Articles 260 and 261 of the Constitution of India specify the Union's jurisdiction over territories outside India, as well as public acts, records, and judicial proceedings.

Under the Constitution, the jurisdiction of each state is confined to its own territory. Hence, it is possible that the acts and records of one state may not be recognised in another state. To remove any such difficulty, the Constitution contains the “Full Faith and Credit” clause.

Statement 1 is correct. According to Article 261 (3), final judgments or orders delivered or passed by civil courts in any part of the territory of India shall be capable of execution anywhere within India (without the necessity of a fresh suit upon the judgement). The rule applies only to civil judgements and not to criminal judgements. Hence, A State can deny full faith and credit to a law, a public record, or the outcome of a court case in another State if it is a criminal matter.

Statement 2 is incorrect. Final judgements and orders of civil courts in any part of India are capable of execution anywhere within India. In other words, it does not require the courts of a state to enforce the penal laws of another state.

Q.33) Consider the following statements with reference to “Article 301” of constitution of India.

1. The word 'free' in Article 301 means absolute freedom.
2. The freedom under Article 301 extends to intra-state trade, commerce and intercourse.
3. While Article 301 contemplates the right of trade in motion, Article 19(1)(g) secures this right at rest.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- a) 1 and 3 only
- b) 2 only
- c) 2 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

Article 301 declares that trade, commerce and intercourse throughout the territory of India shall be free. The object of this provision is to break down the border barriers between the states and to create one unit with a view to encourage the free flow of trade, commerce and intercourse in the country.

Statement 1 is incorrect. The word 'free' in Article 301 cannot mean absolute freedom or that each and every restriction on trade and commerce is invalid. The word 'free' in Article 301 does not mean freedom from regulation. The restrictions which will attract Article 301 must be those which directly and immediately restrict or impede the free flow or movement of trade. Only those taxes which directly and immediately restrict trade would fall within the purview of Article 301. For an absolute freedom of trade, commerce and intercourse may lead to economic confusion and misuse of the same. Therefore the wide amplitude of the freedom granted by Article 301 is limited by Articles 302-305.

Statement 2 is correct. The freedom under this provision is not confined to interstate trade, commerce and intercourse but also extends to intra-state trade, commerce and intercourse. Thus, Article 301 will be violated whether restrictions are imposed at the frontier of any state or at any prior or subsequent stage.

Statement 3 is correct. A difference between Arts. 19(1)(g) and 301, it has been said, is that Art. 301 could be invoked only when an individual, is prevented from sending his goods across the state, or from one point to another in the same state, while Art. 19(1)(g) can be invoked when the complaint is with regard to the right of an individual to carry on business unrelated to, or irrespective of, the movement of goods, i.e., while Art. 301 contemplates the right of trade in motion, Art. 19(1)(g) secures the right at rest.

- a) 1 and 2 only

The National Commission for Backward Classes (NCBC) was first time constituted by the Central Govt as statutory body under The National Commission for Backward Classes Act, 1993. And so far, 7 NCBC has been constituted 7 times up to 2016.

Hence, the Commission ceased to be a statutory body and became a constitutional body,

Statement 2 is correct. The Commission consists of a chairperson, a vice-chairperson and three other members. They are appointed by the President by warrant under his hand and seal. Their conditions of service and tenure of office are also determined by the President

- a) 1 only

- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

The Constitution of India (Article 148) provides for an independent office of the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG). He is the guardian of the public purse and controls the entire financial system of the country at both the levels—the Centre and the state. He is one of the bulwarks of the democratic system of government in India; the others being the Supreme Court, the Election Commission and the Union Public Service Commission.

CAG can be removed by the president on same grounds and in the same manner as a judge of the Supreme Court. i.e., he can be removed by the president on the basis of a resolution passed to that effect by both the Houses of Parliament with special majority, either on the ground of proved misbehaviour or incapacity. He can also resign any time from his office by addressing the resignation letter to the president.

Statement 2 is incorrect. Further, no minister represents the CAG in Parliament (both Houses) and no minister can be called upon to take any responsibility for any actions done by him.

- d) 1 and 4 only

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

The Attorney General for India is the highest law officer in the country. The office of the Attorney General for India is a constitutional position created under Article 76 of the constitution of India. Some details related to it are:

Statement 1 is correct. He/she may be removed by the president at any time. It is because he/she holds office during the pleasure of the president. The term of office of the AG is not fixed by the Constitution. Further, the Constitution does not contain the procedure and grounds for his/her removal. Conventionally, he/she resigns when the government (council of ministers) resigns or is replaced, as he/she is appointed on its advice.

Statement 2 is incorrect. The remuneration of the AG is not fixed by the Constitution. He/she receives such remuneration as the President (not Parliament) may determine.

Statement 3 is incorrect. It is nowhere mentioned that AG will appear on behalf of the Government of India in all cases in International Court of Justice. He is the chief law officer of the Government of India. The president has assigned the following duties to him:

- 1 and 2 only
- 2 only
- 1 and 3 only
- 1, 2 and 3

Q.40) Which one of the following statements is correct regarding the process to create a new district in our country?

- States can create new district after the resolution by state legislative assembly and subsequent ratification by the President of India.
- In order to create a new district in a state, legislation is made by the Parliament of India.
- States can create new districts by executive action or passing a law in the State Assembly.
- It is mandatory to seek approval of the union Home Ministry for creation of new district in any state in India.

Ans) c

Exp) Option c is correct.

The power to create new districts or alter or abolish existing districts rests with the State governments. This can either be done through an executive order or by passing a law in the State Assembly. Many States prefer the executive route by simply issuing a notification in the official gazette.

Centre has no role to play in the alteration of districts or creation of new ones. States are free to decide. Home Ministry comes into the picture when a State wants to change the name of a district or a railway station. The departments such as the Ministry of Earth Sciences, Intelligence Bureau, Department of Posts, Geographical Survey of India Sciences, and the Railway Ministry, provides their clearance to the proposal of state government. After examination of their replies, state government receives a no-objection certificate.

 - Both the chairman and member of SPSC can be removed only by the President.
 - No educational qualifications have been prescribed for the membership of both UPSC and SPSC.
- Which of the statements given above is/are correct?

- 1 only
- 2 and 3 only
- 2 only
- 1, 2 and 3

Ans) d

Exp) Option d is correct.

Statement 1 is correct. A member of UPSC (on ceasing to hold office) is eligible for appointment as the chairman of UPSC or a State Public Service Commission (SPSC) but not for any other employment in the Government of India or a state. When a member of UPSC is appointed as its chairman, he holds the new office for six years or until the age of superannuation, whichever is earlier.

Statement 2 is correct. Both the chairman and members of a SPSC can be removed only by the President. Although the chairman and members of a SPSC are appointed by the Governor, they can be removed only by the President (and not by the Governor). The President can remove them on the same grounds and in the same manner as he can remove a chairman or a member of the UPSC.

The Governor has no role to play in the removal of the members of the SPSC.

Statement 3 is correct. No educational qualifications are prescribed for the Commission's membership except that one-half of the members of the Commission should be such persons who have held office for at least ten years either under the Government of India or under the government of a state. 1. Under Special Circumstances, the Election Commission of India may conduct the elections to panchayats and municipalities.
2. The State Election Commissions work under the overall supervision of the Election Commission of India.
3. The Chief Election Commissioner enjoys the security of the tenure.

Which of the above statements is/are incorrect?

- a) 1 and 2 only
- b) 2 and 3 only
- c) 1 and 3 only
- d) 1, 2 and 3

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

The Election Commission is a permanent and an independent body established by the Constitution of India directly to ensure free and fair elections in the country. Article 324 of the Constitution provides that the power of superintendence, direction and control of elections to parliament, state legislatures, the office of president of India and the office of vice-president of India shall be vested in the election commission.

Statement 1 is incorrect. The election commission is not concerned with the elections to panchayats and municipalities in the states. For this, the Constitution of India provides for a separate State Election Commission.

Statement 2 is incorrect. The Election Commission is an all-India body to ensure free and fair elections in the country. The Constitution of India provides for a separate State Election Commission which does not work under the overall supervision of the Election Commission of India. Although the two authorities have a similar mandate, they are independent of each other and draw powers from different laws. For example, the SEC in Bengal draws its powers from the West Bengal State Election Commission Act, 1994. It has nothing to do with the Representation of the People Act, which lays down the EC's powers.

Statement 3 is correct. The Chief Election Commissioner is provided with security of the tenure. He cannot be removed from his office except in same manner and on the same grounds as a judge of the Supreme Court. Though other Election Commissioners can be removed by the President on the recommendation of the Chief Election Commissioner.

Which of the above statements is/are correct?

- a) 2 only
- b) 1 and 3 only
- c) 2 and 3 only
- d) 3 only

Ans) a

Exp) Option a is correct.

The Constitution makes a provision for the establishment of a Joint State Public Service Commission (JSPSC) for two or more states.

Statement 1 is incorrect. While the UPSC and the SPSC are created directly by the Constitution, a JSPSC can be created by an act of Parliament on the request of the state legislatures concerned. Thus, a JSPSC is a statutory and not a constitutional body.

Statement 2 is correct. The chairman and members of a JSPSC are appointed by the president. They hold office for a term of six years or until they attain the age of 62 years, whichever is earlier.

Statement 3 is incorrect. A JSPSC presents its annual performance report to each of the concerned state governors. Each governor places the report before the state legislature.

Knowledge Base: The UPSC can also serve the needs of a state on the request of the state governor and with the approval of the president.

1. Prime Minister
2. Chief Election Commissioner
3. Attorney General of India
4. Comptroller and Auditor General of India

Select the correct answer using the code given below:

- a) 1 and 2 only

- b) 1 and 3 only
- c) 3 only
- d) 1, 2, 3 and 4

Ans) b

Exp) Option b is correct.

The Union executive consists of the President, the Vice- President, the Prime Minister, the council of ministers and the Attorney general of India. The President is the head of the Indian State. He is the first citizen of India and acts as the symbol of unity, integrity and solidarity of the nation.

Option 1 is correct: The Constitution does not contain any specific procedure for the selection and appointment of the Prime Minister. Article 75 says only that the Prime Minister shall be appointed by the president. The term of the Prime Minister is not fixed and he holds office during the pleasure of the president. However, this does not mean that the president can dismiss the Prime Minister at any time. So long as the Prime Minister enjoys the majority support in the Lok Sabha, he cannot be dismissed by the President. However, if he loses the confidence of the Lok Sabha, he must resign or the President can dismiss him.

Option 2 is incorrect: The Election Commission shall consist of the chief election commissioner and such number of other election commissioners, if any, as the president may from time to time fix. Any other election commissioner or a regional commissioner cannot be removed from office except on the recommendation of the chief election commissioner.

The chief election commissioner is provided with the security of tenure. He cannot be removed from his office except in same manner and on the same grounds as a judge of the Supreme Court. Thus, he does not hold his office till the pleasure of the president, though he is appointed by him.

Option 3 is correct: The Attorney General (AG) is appointed by the president. He must be a person who is qualified to be appointed a judge of the Supreme Court. The term of office of the AG is not fixed by the Constitution. Further, the Constitution does not contain the procedure and grounds for his removal. He holds office during the pleasure of the president. This means that he may be removed by the president at any time. He may also quit his office by submitting his resignation to the president. Conventionally, he resigns when the government (council of ministers) resigns or is replaced, as he is appointed on its advice.

Option 4 is incorrect: The CAG is appointed by the president of India by a warrant under his hand and seal. He holds office for a period of six years or upto the age of 65 years, whichever is earlier. He can resign any time from his office by addressing the resignation letter to the president. He can also be removed by the president on same grounds and in the same manner as a judge of the Supreme Court. Thus, he does not hold his office till the pleasure of the president, though he is appointed by him.
